One of the hardest things about the Deep Web is that it is almost impossible to search for anything as search engines do not work there, so you need resources like this to find what you are looking for.

It is estimated that 90% of all internet data and websites are hidden from search engine indexing, this area of the internet is known as the Deep Web.

Then there is another smaller sub-set of the Deep Web that consists of darknet markets, and sites about drugs, pornography, weapons,
